THE DUNES OF 1930

The "Stone Age" is a term used in archaeology to denote the period of time during which people made use of stone tools as the medium through which to record their experiences. Through the discovery of these crude carvings we have come to understand many conditions which have puzzled historians heretofore.

Ptolemy Soter, the first ruler who introduced and patromized Greek scientific literature in Egypt, was followed by that even more munificant patron, Philadelphus. The latter completed the establishment of the first university in Egypt which had been started by his fathers. The scholars were taught to decipher ancient Egyptian and the volumes have been left to us.

THE DUNES - 1930 PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF THE HAMMOND HIGH SCHOOL, HAMMOND, INDIANA

The discovery of the famous Egyptian Rosetta Stone, a slab of black basalt having inscribed upon it—firstly in hieroglyphics, secondly in demotic, and thirdly in Greek—a decree of the Priests of Egypt, enabled archaeologists to decipher the Egyptian alphabet, and enlightened historians concerning many puzzling circumstances.

In appreciation of his untiring service and kindly disposition, do we dedicate THE DUNES of 1930 to our printing instructor, $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$

Our own letters are practically identical to the ancient lapidary form. In the Greek and Latin alphabets we find many similarities which have reappeared in our present symbols. Interesting tablets have been found, particularly on the Isle of Crete, which have proved somewhat similar to the cunciform of Persia.

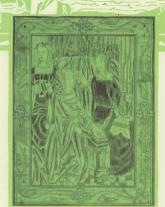

The scroll and stylus were used by the Romans as a means of leaving for the future enlightening facts concerning themselves. With this end in mind, they carefully penned many interesting volumes about their lives and habits. Some ancient scrolls and stylus have been unearthed and they are not unlike our modern uriting.

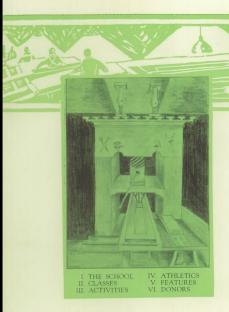

Since prehistoric times man has endeavored to preserve for posterity some record of his physical and cultural life. Each era has found a change in his mode of living and method of expression. Around this evolution is woven the theme of our 1930 DUNES.

In the twelfth and thirteenth centuries the monks were the only persons who had an advanced education; hence it was up to them to record for posterity the principal events of that era. Their offerings have been recorded in a variety of forms and languages, and their early translations are still preserved.

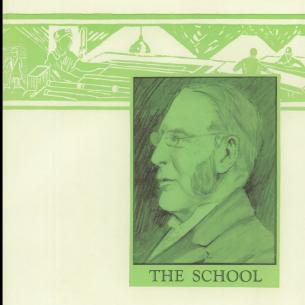

Faculty Advisor—Miss E. McCullough Editor—Betty Osler Assistant Editor—John Gunnell Business Manager—Oteve Bereolos Ass't Business Manager—Orville Reissig

Because of the popularity of tapestries in the Middle Ages, the monks used them as their means of record. So far as is known the art of Aigle Warp tapestry-weaving was first practiced in Londers towards the end of the twelfth century. Many of these ancient pieces are scattered about the United States in various museums.

Printing is the art of recording by pressure prints of copies from some original or model. There is no doubt that the Chinese practiced printing many centuries before it was known in Europe. Printing was introduced in England in 1476, and to the United States in 1685. Benjamin Franklin did more toward printing than any other person.

The era between 1860 and 1889 claims Dr. Eliot. During his four years as a student at Harvard he earned his D.D. and LL.D. degrees. He has been outstanding as a historian and an educator. As an educator he is renowned in two distinct fields, first as a preacher of the Gospel, second as a professor of the liberal arts.

You want me to write a DUNES Message of two hundred words. What shall it be? Congratulation, Appreciation, Quotation, Advice, are the common warp and weft of such pieces-sometimes decorated with Lofty Aspirations and Fine Idealism. All of these are yours without asking. I would give you something more in hand with which to meet the practical everyday jobs of Life. Here it is-

HAMMOND HIGH SCHOOL A. L. BPOHN, PRINCIPAL HAMMOND, INDIANA

TO THE STUDENTS OF THE HAMMOND HIGH SCHOOL:

A great teacher once wrote to his pupils a message which I would at this time might be my message to you. It has to do not with fame and fortune, or worldly success, but with the deeper things of the spirit.

"My friends, you are in the morning of life. Birds sing; lew sparkles; the breath of dawn is sweet. The day's work is before you, and life calls to action. In your school days you have dreamed of a future and it was beautiful. Hyou would have the dream come true, you must, with an undivided devocion, be true to the light that is yours. At times it will be lost behind clouds of discouragement, or the great bulk of some mountain of difficulty will hide it from you. Yet be faithful and 'follow the gleam'; let not sour cynicism or worldly indifference or any selfish desire separate you from your love. With

About the School

OPHY CASE Mr. SPOHN HISTORY STUDY

There are many features to be noticed about the Hammond High School. The most noticeable is governing body under the supervision of our efficient principal, Mr. Spohn, and his assistant, Mr. Rupp. These two men are ably assisted by Miss Carlson and Mrs. Mecun. It is the duty of all these executives to take care of all delinquent and failing pupils, issue programs, check tardies and absentess, get out the announcements, and a hundred other things that come up daily.

and assentess, get out the atnouncements, and a numeric other things that come up datury.

Another feature is the complete laboratory system of our school, from which may come some famous chemist or scientist. The physics laboratory in charge of Mr. Hayes and the chemistry laboratory in charge of Mr. Bupp and Mr. Long are the scenes of many experiments. Crawling snakes, growing plants and a fish aquarium make up the biology laboratory, zealously guarded Miss Render and Miss Custatlosm. In the cooking room the girls are taught how to halance metals, how to cook and bake properly, and from the aroma that pentertates the halls, one is well aware of the fact that Miss Heiner I dought for the core that Miss Heiner For every girl in

The trophy case, which stands in the main hall, gives evidence of the places Hammond High as won in contests. If one looks over these, it can be readily seen that we have won a goodly number of first places in events. Among the treasured trophies is the one gained by winning the state orchestra contest for three years in succession.

Each department in school has a study-hall, and when pupils are assigned to these halls they study under the supervision of an efficient teacher of that subject. The picture gives one a glimpse of the students at work in a history study.

The boys and girls are each provided with splendid gymnasium and swimming pools and these places afford ample exercise for the students. Each year sees a number of thrilling and these places afford ample exercise for the students. Each year sees a number of thrilling and the places afford ample exercise for the students. Each year sees no make the place in them. The gyms are not only used for calisthenics but other forms of recreation, such as whool dances. Each year the Junious give their annual prom in the boys' gym. During the lunch period the boys and girls may go to the gym and play games supervised by one of the instructors, and this alone is worth while.

Almost every instructor in our High School gives three part assignments, and extra readings are usually given as a part of the third assignment, known as maximum. This requires a great deal of reading and a vast number of books, making necessary a splendid library, which Hammond Heldung and a view numer on books, making necessary a speendid library, which Ham-mond High as, Miss Hawyer works in co-operation with the city library and as a result, any book necessary of the control of the city library on short notice. Last but not least is the students' opinion, brought out in the Calumet Herald through the effort of Mr. Howe and his printers. Few people realize how many hours are spent in hard, useful labor in the printing room. Have you ever noticed the report cards, receipt books, hand books, etc.? These are all printed in our own print shop by our own students.

Sponsor-Miss White. President of '28-Eleanor Anderson. President of '29-James Turner. President of '30-Archie Ervin.

The class of "thirty" has not done many spectacular things, but it has conscientiously backed the school in every way. It has many competent students, in a scholastic as well as athletic manner. It is the largest Senior Class that has yet graduated from the Hammond High School. Two hundred and fifty diplomas will be given out in June. The three presidents have been outstanding in school activities other than in their own class. Both boys were members of the football squad, and both were nominated for the presidency of the student association. Eleanor was prominent on the girls' basketball and swimming teams.

Wanda Ciucka and Lois Bounds, as a result of their hard work and many A's, have been selected as Valedictorian and Salutatorian, and they will make their addresses at the Class Day exercises.

Miss White's perseverence and tact enabled the class to successfully give a delightful prom for the ex-seniors of '29.

Junior Class

THOMAS FLEMING
President

Meek, timid, bashful little Freshmen, that's all we were. Green, unsophisticated Freshmen three years ago, going into wrong rooms, afraid of teachers and upper classmen, and what not.

But then we became Sophomores. We ventured at least to hold up our heads and speak to the Juniors and Seniors. We learned rapidly the ways of upper classmen. Not so far from the top now.

KENNETH COFFING

Strong determination has made us Juniors. Our most faithful and helpful friend is Miss Bauman, our sponsor. This year the one big thing in our school life was the responsibility of the most successful prom ever given. And was it a success! Ask those present, Next year we are to take the responsibility of the Seniors; to take hold of the student government, to rule the student body, and to publish the high school annual and paper.

Lanky Tom Fleming, our president; Kenneth Coffing, tall vice-president; Kathleen Vincett, recorder; and little Johnny Wilhelm, treasurer, served the class well.

And oh, what a gorgeous prom! It sure is wonderful to be a "JUNIOR."

ETHEL BARRYMORE

The Barrymores are probably the most outstanding stage family in the United States. Of these there is one woman, who despite her age earries on and continues her career with one superb production after another. Ethel Barrymore made her debut in 1896 in "The Country Cousin." Her latest production, "The Love Duel," is now heading the dramatics in New York.

ACTIVITIES

As literature has advanced so has the stage, much in the same line. Biography has become pre-eminent in both, bringing out the individual qualities of many persons. With words, touches are added to volumes, but it takes the skillful lighting effects and elaborate luxuries which are within the grasp of a property man to successfully put over a stage production.

Association

LELAND DUNKERSON

TO THE STUDENTS AND FACULTY OF HAMMOND HIGH:

Now that this year has come to a close, I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to the student body and faculty for their co-operation and backing, which has made this year successful in many ways.

I would like to say that the officers of the school have discharged their duties in an efficient and capable manner, and I want to thank, especially, the students appointed by me for their co-operation, for they have done work of which they may be proud and should be commended on it.

The student body, as a whole, has responded very well in their co-operation by backing the different campaigns, athletic contests, dances, plays and various other activities. Although the support was good there is always room for improvement.

Another group, which should be mentioned as being a vital part of the success of this year, is the faculty members who were connected with these activities, for they were largely responsible that the things were carried out.

I wish to thank the sponsors of the Senate and House, Miss Hoffman and Miss Bauman, for their work and co-operation in connection with these two groups of the student government.

Last of all I wish Hammond High a very successful year in 1930-31 in everything that she undertakes. Sincerely, Eland Dunkerson

Student Court

Bottom row: Dorothea Lynch, Genevieve Dorsey, Esther Van Tamelen, Harriet Schillo.

The student court was organized in 1925 to take care of minor offenses. Feeling that the court should have more power, the legislature passed a bill giving the court jurisdiction over tardies. But due to the unsufficient penalties and change of decision by the office this plan proved to be a failure.

At the beginning of this school year the court was ready to be abolished. The legislature, after much consideration, passed a bill which brought about the reorganization of the court. This took away the jurisdiction over the tardies and gave the court jurisdiction over cases formerly judged by the senate court. It was unnecessary for the court to meet every day so a new plan for meeting twice a week was adopted.

The court has been very successful this year. No decision was rendered without due consideration by the judges. In all the cases appealed to the senate court, not one decision that was given by the student court was changed.

The present court is made up of John Christensen, Senior; Esther Van Tamelen, Senior; Thomas Mayhew, Junior; Harriet Schillo, Junior; Genevieve Dorsey, Sophomore; Alverta Sohl, Freshman; Dorothea Lynch, substitute judge, and Paul Marlowe, Secretary of Discipline.

Besides the Secretary of Discipline, Paul Marlowe, there is a Secretary of Student Activities and a Secretary of Public Safety. These two positions were taken care of by James Adams and Stephen Gargas, respectively, assisted by Miss Bauman, Faculty Advisor. At the end of the first semester Steve Gargas withdrew and John Sovula replaced him as Secretary of Public Safety.

Senate

A better understanding and a closer feeling of co-operation between the students of this high school and the faculty shows, to a certain extent, the success attained by the Senate of 1929-30.

With Leland Dunkerson as the presiding officer, the Senate has endeavored to bring an esprit de corps among the students by passing various bills and amendments to the constitution.

The student court, long open to much criticism, was revised, and a high school chapter of the Junior Red Cross was formed. With the aid of this local chapter, consisting of all the students of the high school, the Junior Red Cross Committee will direct the welfare work of the school, including contributions to the National Children's Fund; taking part in international school correspondence; or otherwise engaging in authorized activities that promote friendship among the students of all nations.

The Student Activity Passes Bill was passed, enabling the students to attend more activities and thereby develop school spirit. The passes will be sold at such a rate that, at the end of the school year, the student will have received double the value of his pass.

An amendment was made to Article III of the bill concerning holding of offices, to the effect that members of the National Honor Society are permitted to hold an office in that club in addition to the one major and minor or two minor offices now allowed.

Since the recorder of the High School Association, Marjorie Pope, left school at the end of the first semester, her duties were assumed by Lois Bounds for the remainder of the year.

House of Representatives

The House has completed seven years as a successful governing body of the Student Association. Much like the House of Representatives in our national government, it voices the opinion of the individual through the lesser governments, the advisory groups No bill can become a law governing the association unless voted upon by the House.

The Vice-President of the Association, Gilbert Brown, served as speaker of the House during the 1929-30 term. Margaret Maloney was selected from the membership as the secretary. By a vote at the first meeting, Miss Bauman was elected advisor.

Because of a lack of legislation in which the whole House could participate, four standing committees were formed. The Social committee, composed of Helen Maharg, Jeanne Stolte and Mary Ridgway, was formed to consider and make plans for social activity in the school. The Athletics committee had for its members Walter St. John, James Babcock and William Phillips. All legislation pertaining to athletics was first considered and put into bill form by this committee. The third committee, the Financial, considered legislation in the light of its financial possibilities, handicaps or disadvantages. On this committee were Dick Kennedy and Jeanette Dorton. Alison Tennant and Charles Fletcher were the members of the Grades committee. It was the duty of this group to investigate the factors affecting the schoolant consider methods of improving it.

These groups met in a joint meeting at the regular House period and discussed the problems confronting the government and put legislation into bill form. When bills had been compiled, which it was necessary for the entire House to vote on, a special meeting was called by the speaker.

Boys' Band

Director-A. P. Lesinsky.

1928-Second in State, fifth in National.

1929-Third in State.

1930-State Champions.

The actual value of this splendid unit within our school can hardly be estimated. Less than a decade a part of our educational system, it has become the motive power behind almost every school function where band music is necessary for success.

This organization has grown famous in not only the city and county, but in Indiana and the United States as well. Under the able leadership of Director Adam P. Lesinsky, the band has mastered and played creditably such compositions as "Finlandia" by Sibelius, "Marche Slave" by Tschaikowsky, "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven, and many others composing a large repertoire. Much credit is also due Mr. Weimer, assistant to Mr. Lesinsky, and Mr. Dierks, director of the Girls' Band, for their untiring efforts in training and coaching the boys.

Fortunate it is, indeed, that Superintendent L. L. Caldwell of the Hammond Public Schools is a real music lover. It was Mr. Caldwell who found ways and means to equip and uniform the band, and finance trips to distant points where the Boys' Band was able to compete with the best bands of American High Schools. The inspirational and educational values resulting from such contacts are of inestimable value to the young musician.

Girls' Band

Director—Mr. Dierks.
1928—Second in County.
1929—Second in County.
1930—State Championship.

The Girls' Band is bigger and better than ever. In February they participated in the Seventh Annual Band Concert held in this high school. They received a wonderful commendation which led them brilliantly orward to the state contest in Gary, where they entered and won first place in Class A.

This year the band greatly increased in instrumentation. In September only forty qualified members were enrolled, but by January the number had grown to ninety-five. It is customary to urge the Freshmen to enter the band. The school furnishes many instruments, with which a student may be most successfully taught by our able conductor Mr. Dierks. He has the aid of our brilliant director of the music department, Mr. Adam P. Lesinsky.

The band received new capes this year, and with their gleaming white dresses they made a very colorful presentation in all the numerous concerts and contests.

The girls successfully mastered the "Hungarian Comedy." the "Orpheus des Undervelt," and "Stradella," which are three of the most difficult selections ever attempted and successfully played by a high school girls' band.

The money which the girls receive is used for the purchasing of new instruments and other musical necessities.

One of the most creditable and outstanding organizations in the High School is the Orchestra. Under the able leadership of Adam P. Lesinsky, with the assistance of W. H. Last year the Orchestra won second place at the First National High School Orchestra Contest at Iowa City. The H. H. S. Quartette

Sponsor—Miss Becker
Tenor, I—Richard Aageberg.
Tenor, II—Eugene Harmon.
Baritone—Richard Kennedy.
Bass—John Gunnell.

The Hammond High School Quartette is a newly formed organization of the school and is doing splendid work. They have appeared at a few social functions and one or two school sessions so far, and are expected to be called upon more often in the near future.

The quartette is composed of Richard Aageberg, first tenor; Eugene Harmon, second tenor; Richard Kennedy, baritone; and John Gunnell, bass; all of whom are members of the music clubs of the school. They organized the club themselves and are under the tutorship of Miss Edna Becker. As a whole their violes blend very nicely and the tone quality is above the average. John is a Junior and has spent most of his high school years in the music section of the school. Dick Kennedy is a Senior. Dick is a good singer and more than a welcome member of the quartette. Eugene is a Junior and has still a year to spend in the music department. Dick Aageberg is also a Junior. He belongs to the Mixed Chorus and the Boys' Glec Club, and has participated in music activities since his freshman vear.

Marshall Davis, who entered school from out of town, is the quartette's efficient accompanist.

This year, the quartette was honored by being among the delegation to represent Hammond in the National Chorus.

Girls' Glee Club

President-Madeline Folk. Vice-President-Helen Schrieber. Secretary-Helen Cook. Librarian-Mae Boardway.

Accompanist-Martha McCrorv.

The Girls' Glee Club, with Miss Becker as its efficient director, is composed of thirty of the picked voices of the school. At the beginning of the semester they worked faithfully with Miss Becker and our accompanist, Martha McCrory, on several choice selections, which they presented one evening at a meeting of the Hammond Woman's Club. For their splendid showing they received many compliments and invitations to sing again.

At Christmas they joined with the boys to give a concert at the Parthenon Theatre. Through these public presentations they have acquainted the people of Hammond with the work that the music department of the high school is doing.

In March, five of the girls had the great honor of being chosen for the National Chorus Concert given in Chicago. These girls were Chlotielde Rumsey, Harriet

Toren, Evelyn Ervin, Madeline Folk and Frances George. Of all the voices, the outstanding soloists, who have not only sung with the chorus but on special occasions as well, are Chlotielde Rumsey, Eunice Jeffries, Harriet Toren and Frances George. The entire Glee Club practiced for several months on the contest piece, "Flower of Dreams" by Clakey, and did very well in the county contest at Hammond.

Boys' Glee Club

President—Victor Monnett.
Vice-President—Charles Clark.
Secretary—Richard Kennedy.
Librarian—Warren Johnson.
Accompanist—Martha McCrory.

Out of eighty-six applicants tested this year, thirty were chosen as members of the Boys' Glee Club. Miss Becker's skilled ear has stood her in good stead, for many public organizations have complimented her on the splendt work she has done.

Five of the boys are members of the National Chorus, and Miss Becker believes that many more could have been accepted so far as voices are concerned.

In the county contest, held this year in the Hammond High School Auditorium, the hopes of the boys were high, and they placed second, beaten by a very small margin. The number which they sang in competition this year was the beautiful "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming," by Praetorius.

High scholarship as well as talent is a requisite in the club, for without the assurance of three full credits no member is allowed to participate in the contest.

During the year the Glee Club sang for many organizations, such as the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. The results of the diligent rehearsals evidently were exceptional, for their various hosts repeatedly asked for a return performance.

Sponsor—Miss Becker.

President—Eugene Harmon.

Vice-President—John Gunnell.

Librarian—Madeline Folk.

The Choral Club is composed of the best vocal talent in our high school. Previous to this year it was known as the Mixed Chorus.

During the year, under the leadership of Miss Edna Becker, the club was outstanding among the school's musical organizations. It made many public appearances before the Civic Clubs of the city. One of the most outstanding events was the appearance at the Parthenon Theatre in a Christmas program. The different members co-operated with the churches to make their Christmas programs more successful.

In the Lake County Contest this year the Choral Club won second place. They were defeated by Washington of East Chicago by a small margin. The contest number, "Twilight," was written by Doctor Protheroe, and was well rendered by the chorus.

Eleven members of this splendid organization were fortunate enough to become members of the National High School Chorus, which met in Chicago for one week during the National Music Supervisors' Conference.

With so many old members left for next year great things are expected and Hammond should win the County Contest.

Managing Editor-Lois Bounds.

News Director-Harry Lynn.

In June, 1930, the students of Hammond High School elected the editor and business manager of the Calumet Herald for the school year of 1929-30. Arthur Jacobs and William Postlewaite were the successful candidates. With the aid of Mr. Lawrence M. Hopper, the sponsor of the Herald, these two picked their staff.

To Lois Bounds went the managing editorship with all its responsibilities. After several other news editors were tried, Harry Lynn finally proved the man able to take proper care of this position, one of the most important on the staff. George Armstrong was selected first page editor and Joe Honoroff and Orville Bemisderfer became the co-editors of the sport page.

William Postlewaite chose William Dahlkamp as his advertising manager. Lewis

Domke held the circulation manager's job for the first semester, to be succeeded by Assisting Mr. W. H. Howe in the actual printing of the Herald were two Juniors, Robert Palmer and Alvin Falk. Later, Melvin Hesterman, Senior, also began to work in the printshop.

More than fifty students made up the staff of the 1929-30 Herald. They probably composed one of the most efficient and experienced staffs that ever was assembled at this high school.

As proof of the excellency of this year's Herald, it received for the first time in history, a first place in Class B newspapers of senior high schools, in the annual newspaper contest held by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This made it one of the thirteen best high school newspapers from schools of its size in the United States. The results of the other publication contests entered by the Herald will again win second place in Class A among Indiana newspapers. Hopes are entertained for a first place in the National Scholastic Press Association contest.

During the year the Herald carried on a strong campaign for a new gymnasium for the High School. Minor campaigns for a student activities fee and a university extension course were supported.

The old headline type has been replaced by Bodoni type, giving the Herald a more modern, up-to-date appearance. A dozen members attended the three day convention of the Indiana Press Association at Franklin in early autumn. An equal number were delegates to the National Scholastic Press Association Convention held in December, 1929, in Chicago, for which Mr. Howe printed booklets used by the out-of-town delegates.

DUNES STAFF

Sponsor-Miss Eunice McCullough.

Editor-Betty Osler.

Assistant Editor-John Gunnell.

Business Manager-Steve Bereolos.

Assistant Business Manager-Orville Reissig.

Few realize how much time and effort is spent in publishing an annual. The finished product is looked over, criticized, and then thrown aside to be forgotten for an indefinite period, with no thought of the difficulties under which the work was carried on.

Under the leadership of Steve Bereolos, the business staff, made up of five solicitors, worked from September to June gettling donations from the merchants and business men of Hammond in order to pay for the publication of THE DUNES. Since each book sold for $1.25 is actually worth $2.64, it means that a considerable sum must be taken in. Steve's favorite question, "How much does it cost?" is responsible for the fact that the book was kept within its budget.

The twelve members of the Art and Literary Staffs have done their best to use the Business Staff's hard earned money to greatest advantage for each of the subscribers of The DUNES. They have tried to tell the story of the school year 1929-30 in picture and interesting write-ups, to remain forever among the memoirs of Hammond

High School.

However, without the aid of Miss Eunice McCullough, faculty advisor, the task would have been much more difficult, for the three staffs have her to thank for ideas which were incorporated in their various lines of work.

Last year, The Dunes with Clara Kuhn, Editor, and Nelson Grills, Business Mational Scholastic Press Association contest, and had a First National rating in the National Scholastic Press Association contest. With mistakes corrected and, it is hoped, no new ones, this year's aim is to make first in the state and All American.

The Affirmative Debating Team

Spansor-Mr. Kumpf. First Speaker-James Adams. Second Speaker-Lois Bounds. Third Speaker-John Christensen.

With but one veteran to form the nucleus of this year's affirmative debating team, Coach Kumpf started early to develop six champion wranglers. From among teams, coach aumpt statest early to develop sax champion wrangers. From among the thirty-five candidates, be chose James Adams, Keith Caldwell, John Christersen, Helen Kaplan and James Turner as the most promising material. Having been a member of the squad of the previous season, Lois Bounds was automatically a member of this year's team. She became captain by the election of her teammates. The question for debate this year was; "Resolved, that the State of Indiana," by law, should adopt the principle of an old age pension."

After weeks of diligent preparation, the team traveled to Morocco, Indiana, on January 31, for the opening encounter of the season. Here the Hammond representatives, now popularly called the A B C debating team-A for Adams, B for Bounds, and C for Christensen and Caldwell-easily won the decision of the critical judge.

H. H. S. sweaters were awarded to James Adams, John Christensen and Keith Caldwell. Having won this award the previous year, Lois Bounds was given a letter. The Misses Virginia Davis and Edna Getzendanner trained the debaters on delivery.

After our debate with Lafayette, the season was over except for the debate with our affirmative team in our auditorium. It was keenly anticipated as it was to decide which was the better of the two teams. The decision was given to the negative team.

The membership of the Arts and Crafts Club is made up of those students who have attained a grade of B in any of the art courses offered in Hammond High School.

The activities of the club are many and varied. It is probably most noted for sponsoring the Annual Bal Masque. The "pioneer" theme was used in the decorations and costumes of this year's ball.

At Christmastime the club holds its bazaar. Scarfs, leather, batik and other craft-work suitable for gifts are made and sold by the club members.

One of the most fascinating and worthwhile exhibits of the May Fair is that of the Art Department. Besides managing the exhibit, the club maintains a novelty booth and assists the faculty committees in decorating the halls. Members of the club furnish attractive posters for advertising student activities,

The art work for the school publications is also done by members of the club.

In spite of all the work falling to the club members, they find time for social activity. The annual club outing is an event thoroughly enjoyed for the five years that the club has been in existence.

Italy produced Cæsar; Carthage brought forth Hannibal; from China came Confucius; in England appeared Cromwell; and Hammond High School did its share when from it sprang the Bohemian Club.

Formerly, in days of yore, it was the highest favor attainable by a knight to receive the colors of a lady. Today, to be accepted into the Bohemian Club far surpasses that in honor.

Every member of this organization is—or at least was—a writer of notes, poems, essays, stories, plays—always at their finger tips! As proof of their versatility is the annual Literary Supplement of the Herald, which is exclusively the work of the club. Representing the individuals of the club, this supplement has been the yearly feature, giving the literary spirit of the members an outlet. Just as the Bank of England, this supplement is an institution.

The dual purpose of this club is to stimulate creative writing and to encourage appreciation of modern literature. Meetings are concerned with subjects of pertinence to these objects.

Ships may sink; towns may burn; wars may wage; plagues may spread—but the Bohemian Club will live forever!

Ace of Clubs

Sponsor-Miss Pritchard. President-John Walker. Vice-President-John Johnson. Secretary-Kathryn Kain. Treasurer-Eleanor Gostlin.

'Way back in 1922 it was decided that there ought to be a club of some sort for the "Freshies." Consequently, the Ace of Clubs was organized. Any member of the Freshman Class in Hammond High School who succeeds in making not less than a B average in his subjects may belong.

The aim of the organization is to maintain a high standard of scholarship among the Freshmen; to impress upon them the necessity of co-operation with those in authority, and to make their first taste of club life in our high school pleasant.

The "Freshies" surprised everyone in March when they offered an all school party on St. Patrick's Day. Through its portrayal of leadership and hospitality the Ace of Clubs has been recognized by the school as a unit which demands attention even though it is composed of supposedly insignificant Freshmen.

With the aid of Miss Pritchard, who has acted as able sponsor for many years, the Ace of Clubs enjoys interesting programs.

Upon the election in this society, the high school presents each member with a pitch emblem is a keystone and a flaming torch with the four letters, S. L. C. S., at its base, which stand for the four qualities by which students are judged.

In 1925 the Triacs were organized, consisting of girls who were leaders in scholarship, athletics and social activities. Each girl is required to have a C average in her course before she is eligible for membership; and each must keep this average after she has been accepted. The aim of the G. A. C. is not just to sponsor swimming, basketball, baseball and other sports but to be an incentive for the girls to live up to the health regulations and continue their athletic interests out of high school.

Archery was introduced just this year, and a decided interest was shown in it. Betty Harris was in charge.

Not only archery, but all of the sports have even managers whose duty is to check up on their sport and encourage more girls to turn out for it.

To encourage healthful living there is a health chart with regulations, which, if obeyed for at least one month, gives a girl more points than she could earn by being active in one sport continually during a season.

All of the inter-class events are sponsored by the G. A. C. These include the inter-class basketball games, the volley-ball tourney, the swimming meet, the base-ball tourney, and the tennis championship.

Much charity work has been done by the girls this year. After school every attention they sold candy in the main corridor. The money is not only used to send two girls to the Girl Reserve Camp Grey at Saugatuck, Michigan, but also for charity. At Thanksgiving three baskets, filled with nourishing food brought by the members, were given to needly families. The children at Brooks House delighted in the party and presents that were given them by the Girl Reserves at Christmastime.

As well as giving wonderful times the Girl Reserves receive them. The Mother's and Daughters' Banquet is always an enjoyable affair. An entertraining week end of April 4th and 5th was provided to seven girls by the Gary homes Friday night. The Council Party given in the cafeteria this year furnished much pleasure to the club. A Silver Tea is given every year at the home of Mrs. Bellman, an outside sponsor, and is eagerly awaited.

During the semester from September to February the Girl Reserve Club was the largest girls' organization in Hammond High School, having a membership of one hundred and four girls.

The position of program chairman was held by Dorothy Emerson. Among the many interesting meetings was the one of November 5th, when Jean Jordan presented a talk on, "What a Girl Reserve Ring Means." At the meeting of December 3rd "The Value of Books" was the subject in discussion.

The second semester the club with twenty less members entered what resulted in an auspicious term.

The office of program chairman was filled by the presidents of each group provided many clever events.

On April 29th the Girl Reserve unit was honored by the presence of Doctor Kuhn; he gave a health talk.

Another clever meeting was the one of May 10th, when a delightful play was presented.

The Girl Reserve unit is truly one of the most active and enjoyable clubs at Hammond High School.

Germany boasts of two outstanding achievements in this present day—the flight of the Graf Zeppelin and Der Deutsche Verein of the Hammond High School.

First we will discuss Der Deutsche Verein. No members of the old club to serve as a nucleus for a new one was the situation confronting the new German Club advisor, Miss Suerth, last fall. Today twenty-nine students answer the club's roll call.

More than an average interest in the language is required for one to be a member of the club. In order to gain entrance, one must earn an A or B grade in class. What is learned in the classroom is practiced in the club, as the meetings are carried out entirely in the language of science.

The German scenes offered at the meetings furnish enjoyment and laughter to all. However, the club does not overlook its real purpose, and it has secured such authorities on the subject as a member of the Kaiser's Guards, Mr. Kellner, who spoke on "Pre-War Germany."

The second of Germany's achievements—the flight of the Graf Zeppelin—is also important, but since we have room for only one, it is only fair to tell about the more important of Germany's boasts.

Dramatic Club

Sponsor-Miss V. Davis. President-William Postlewaite. Vice-President-Fravel Thompson. Secretary-Charlotte Elder. Treasurer-Alex Katona.

The Dramatic Club is believed to be composed of students exhibiting certain dramatic possibilities. Applicants for membership are voted upon after tryouts before the club at the beginning of each semester. Those reaching the required standards are received into the fold. During the course of the term, the roll is swelled slightly at the initiation of students chosen because of outstanding performances in auditorium programs.

The officers of the club are elected in the fall and retained throughout the entire year. Consequently, William Postlewaite has wielded the gavel for the whole school year, while Fravel Thompson sat back wishing Bill would contract the measles and give him a chance to exercise his rights as Vice-President. No happening pertaining to the club, trivial or otherwise, has escaped the vigilant eye of the Secretary, Charlotte Elder. On the other hand, Alex Katona has always been ready at any time to give the club's financial statistics on mere suggestion. Certainly a more able director than Miss Davis could not be found.

The club made its yearly debut last October as sponsor of the Fall Play, Since then it has furnished material for auditorium sessions and out-of-school entertainments. Its meetings have been spent in stirring the dust of stage lore, in studying and acting good plays, and in giving original sketches and readings. The annual Dramatic Club play was given early in April, before the entire student body, and the year's work reached its climax in the presentation of two plays at the Fair.

Morning meetings, held on the first and third Tuesdays of the month, are of a business nature. Evening meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month. These include a lunch, religious discussion and a talk by some prominent and interesting man.

One of the greatest ambitions of this organization is to prove to the business

Under Mr. Myers' guiding hand the boys have aroused the interest of many prominent business men as to the desirability of a Y. M. C. A. Application for membership to this science club can be made by any intersted student possessing a camera and having an average of C in any science. Ability to take and develop a perfect picture is prerequisite to full-fledged membership. The programs of the meetings of the club are devoted to discussions of camera construction, photographic technique, and photographic subject material.

This club is willing to take pictures of anything, at any time, and for any cause. During the football season the club took pictures of individual players and the climaxes of the games. Most of the pictures of Hobo Day were taken by club members.

Besides the regular school meetings, the club organized a trip to the Dunes taking the Christmas holidays. Hiking and tobogganing, as well as practice in taking pictures, added to the fun of the occasion. The club is also considering plans for a spring outdoor trip.

Not very well known, but of deeply felt influence, is the Bank Cashiers' Club, consisting of the cashiers from each advisory. The organization is under the capable leadership of Mr. Coleman, occupations teacher of the school. It was organized in 1929. Its purpose was to procure a higher percentage in banking in the school as a whole and to lessen the number of mistakes made by the individual. The results have been fairly good, the percentage is much higher, and the number of mistakes has been lowered.

The club has chosen as its motto—"Amos says—Git your 3% semi-annually." Through posters with their motto, the club has carried the idea of saving over to the students.

Many interesting speakers have offered their advice to the High School cashiers. Such men as Mr. Paul Fedder of the Hammond National Bank have encouraged and impressed upon the members of the High School the value of developing the thrift habit.

Several times this year the desired 100% has been attained by the entire school; but this mark evidently does not suit the cashiers, for they continue to stress the idea that "A penny saved is a penny earned."

The library is one of the most popular places in Hammond High School. During the hours of 8:15 to 4:00 o'clock, Miss Hawver and her twenty student helpers serve on an average of seven hundred students a day.

Recently Miss Hawver installed a system of student helpers, each helper receiving .5 credit for a period's work a day for one semester. These students card books, shelve them, repair them, send overdue and fine notices, and do odd jobs which improve the general appearance of the library.

Anyone may come to the library before or after school and during the first twenty minutes of each lunch period if he remains all period. During regular hours admission is by admit only.

Anyone in school may borrow books from the library, and no library card is necessary. Fiction, biography, travel and animal stories may be kept fourteen days and may be renewed once for fourteen days. A fine of two cents a day, not including Saturdays, Sundays and vacation days, is charged for overdue books. Most supplementary and reference books may be kept only overnight or for one period a day. A fine of five cents an hour is charged for each overnight book not returned on time.

A good slogan for every pupil to keep in mind is, "Get the Library Habit and Avail Yourself of the Opportunities Offered There."

OICKE WWENT

Hammond High has one feature that very few schools have, and that is their student bookroom. The bookroom is under the efficient direction of Mr. R. G. Rupp, who is assisted by Wanda Ciucka, Lawrence Monts and James Adams.

Wanda, who is valedictorian of the Senior Class, is the bookkeeper. She keeps all records and does advanced accounting work for this branch of the school.

The two boys, Lawrence and James, have charge of the sales. The boys work before and after school as well as their lunch periods.

Just as clubs have their initiation at the beginning of each semester, so does the bookroom. For days there is always a line of impatient students to be waited on.

Up until the past year the bookroom has occupied room 8, a small room on the lower floor. This last semester, however, the bookroom was moved up to room 127, where there is more available room and a cooler place to work.

Mr. Rupp, who has long had charge of the bookroom, declares that this year, as well as all previous years, he has had able assistants and a successful year.

WANDA CIUCKA LAWRENCE MOATS JAMES ADAMS Mr. RUPP

Among our leading American sports authorities, we find Walter Camp pre-eminent. During his four years at Yale University, from which he graduated in 1880, he was active in the management of the football squads. He is a prolific writer on sports and the morals they portray. He selected the first All-American football team.

ATHLETICS

For many centuries Olympia, located in the valley of Elis, through which flows the river Alpheus, was the scene of spirited athletic contests known as the Olympic games. Like Greece of old, which produced many great athletes made known to us through myths, does America now hold most of the honors in that field.

for the participants.

In order for a school to have successful athletic teams, the student body must be solidly behind its athletic organizations. Some have the opinion that a team plays for a coach, for the school, for the crowd, or for the alumni. My point of view is that it plays more for the student body than for any other one reason. Clean, wholesome rooting, by a united student body, enthusiastically and whole-heartedly supporting its team, is a greater factor than the average observer may realize. The student body must recognize the fact that the team reflects the thoughts, wishes, morals, hopes, and fears of the entire school.

It is impossible to think of a football team without linking with it the quality of service. Service is a lesson fundamentally taught in football, because honor and glory are the only rewards

A football team usually is a failure when the quality of loyalty ceases to exist. Football players are required to be prompt; they are required to live up to strict training rules; and they are required to be attentive. Loyalty is a willing desire to respect their requirements, and, as we have often heard, to "stand by the ship."

While only eleven men are allowed to participate at one time on a football can, a real team is usually composed of a large guad of players, any one of whom can, in no small way, play an important part in its failure or success. A discontented player can be a disorganizer and can cause a large amount of trouble. Unity is a necessary quality in football.

Football teaches sacrifice, in that it demands the sacrificing of many things which a boy ordinarily likes to do. He is required to follow strict rules of training relating to diet, sleep and pleasures not conducive to physical development.

Some mighty fine boys have played football for Hammond High and won a wholesome respect from their competitors. There is no reason to believe that this condition will not continue. Naturally, we often wonder if there will be any more Varners, Thorntons, Nelsons, Hamachers, Byrds or Dunkersons, but I am sure that the traditions left us by these boys and their teammates will be carried on by the members of the squads that will make up the teams in years to come.

Yours for Hammond High,

Karl B Huffine

SHORTRIDGE 7—HAMMOND 20
All Hammond was awakened and agreeably surprised when our Wildeats defeated Shortridge. The hearts of many Hammond fans went to their mouths when Stevart, the Shortridge quaterback, caught Ervin's kick and ran 80 yards for Shortridge's only touchdown. Hammond's touchdowns were made with masses.

ROOSEVELT 6-HAMMOND 0

Hammond put up a good fight against Roosevelt but she allowed her to make six points in the third quarter. It was in the last quarter that Marlowe gained ground for Hammond, but in vain, for the Roosevelt line stopped the drive on their fiveyard line.

SOUTH BEND 19—HAMMOND 6
Weakened by the loss of two players, the Hammond Wildcats ineffectively clawed the South Bend eleven. Fumbles hindered both teams; in fact both teams made their first touchdowns by means of fumbles. The Bears made their second touchdown after a sprint of 67 yards.

FROEBEL 21-HAMMOND 7

Inspired by Coach Huffine, the team met and defeated Froebel, in the first half, by the score of seven to nothing. However, in the second half, Froebel stepped out and helped themselves to twenty-one points for which they had to fight bitterly.

WHITING 0.—HAMMOND 19 Led by Paul Marlowe, the Hammond Cats rambled over the Whiting Oilers as though they were participating in a track meet. Ervin made the first touchdown for Hammond.

EMERSON 21-HAMMOND 7

Hammond put up a good fight against our traditional rival, Emerson. The ball was in the middle of the field during most of the game. The first half belonged to Emerson, but we played the better game in the last half. Once we were on the three-yard line, but the Emerson defense held.

EAST CHICAGO 19-HAMMOND ()

With untried players the Cats engaged in a fray with the Senators of East Chicago. Many of the players gave their all and had to be carried from the field with tears of disappointment streaming down their faces. Although defeated in points, Hammond went down fighting, Again and again the Hammond lads were praised by the fans for their vain struggle against the Washington eleven.

MICHIGAN CITY 10-HAMMOND 6

The whole team fought to win the last conference meet, but bad luck seemed to dog its footsteps. A pass from center was missed and a punt was blocked behind our goal post. Our last hopes were squelched when the Prison Lads made a touchdown in the last quarter.

TECH 0-HAMMOND 19

Hammond's home town rival was met and vanquished on Turner Field. As Tech was rumored to be in the best of form, an air of suspense was formed around the game. The final result, however, was another victory to be recorded for the Hammond Wildcats.

Basketball

An excellent example of faithfulness and keen desire to make the team can be found in the case of William Phillips. Weighing only 115 pounds, and about 5 feet 5 inches tall, he put so much fight and enthusiasm into his work that he could not be kept off the squad. If larger boys would come out and put the effort into their work that Phillips did, this school would be represented by a team that would win consistently.

Any boy who is thinking seriously of trying out for basketball should ask himself these questions: "Will I be willing to sacrifice my own personal desires for the good of the team? Am I going out and play to get my name in print and be a hero, or can I give my best with team play the uppermost thought in my mind?" If a boy cannot honestly decide that he would rather sacrifice self for the best interests of the team and then share the glory of winning with his fellow teammates, he had better not come out for basketball.

As a preliminary training to basketball, the boys who have not been candidates for football have gone out for cross-country running in the fall, and track in the spring. These have proved very beneficial in developing the speed and endurance which are necessary for basketball.

Results in figures show that Hammond High's Baskethall Team this year completed the most successful season in recent years. Coach Church's men won 11 out of 19 games and outscored their opponents, 581 to 518, or an average game score of 27 to 30 points.

After starting the season in a disappointing shappen, the Cats recovered sufficiently to win eight straight games, make a clean sweep of all of the second round of play with the exception of Washington High of East Chicago. For the first time in recent history, Hammond was on a par with Gary, winning half of its games with the three Gary teams, something considered remarkable.

Wins included two over Froebel, one by one pionit; one over Horace Mann; one over Emerson, also by one point; one over Valpo, Whiting, Thornton Fractional, Tech, Alumni and Roosevelt. Losses were: two to Emerit two for Common (one in tourney), one to Horace Mann, Valpo, Roosevelt, Whiting, Elgin and two to Washington of East Chicago.

Outstanding because of his scoring, Vic Mettler led the way with 181 points. He, Ervin and Bolch completed a great scoring combination. Bolch came second with 107 points. "Archie" Ervin's great defensive play and floor work made him one of the most valuable men.

The stalwarts of the defense were Hesterman, Byrd and Cramer. Johnny Wilhelm scored quite a few points with the first team, making his total 97 for both second and first team games.

Hammond's second team finished an even more successful season. Games won include: two over Horace Mann, one over Dyer, Emerson, Froebel, Roosevelt, two over Thornton Fractional and one over Whiting. They lost to Washington, Roosevelt, Froebel, Whiting and Emerson, each once. Phillips, Wilhelm, and Rudzinski were high scores. Nau was a mainstay on defense. Egnatz, Honoroff and Vogel saw considerable action as did Monnett, Marlowe, Coffing and Fleming. Welty played on both second and first teams.

Baseball

The 1929 season of the diamond sport can be classed as one of the best that the Purple and White ever had. Winning six out of twelve games played, the Cats attained a first division berth in the conference for the first time.

Many outstanding events are to be found in the records for 1929. Among these was the first victory ever attained by a Hammond team over an Emerson nine. Another was the entrance of "Gabe" Overman, star pitcher, into baseball's hall of fame. He turned in a no-hit no-run game against Valparaiso.

Coach Huffine and his outfit opened the season by losing a disheartening game to Emerson by a score of 6-3 at the latter's field. However, the Cats evened things up by giving the Emersonians a 2-1 defeat in the return game. This was one of the best games that the team played all season.

The Cats defeated the Roosevelt Roughriders, the Valpo Brownies, and Hammond Tech; while they were thrown back by the Washington Senators, the Roughriders, and the Whiting Oilers.

With a team of experienced men, the Cats are expected to do great things this year. "Vic" Mettler, who for three years has filled the shortstop position, will captain the 1930 outfit.

Tennis

One of the most brilliant and successful athletic teams of the year 1929 was the tennis team. Under the supervision of Athletic Director L. Moorehead, who was acting as coach, the team went through its entire schedule without tasting defeat. As a result of their high accomplishments, the boys were awarded the championship of Northern Indiana. It was the only trophy won throughout the sport year by any of our athletic teams.

The team had five scheduled dual meets in addition to the conference meet. They defeated Emerson twice, Washington of East Chicago twice, and Roosevelt of Gary once. To complete the year, Tom Black, the outstanding star of the team, walked away with individual honors at the conference meet.

With Coach Moorehead as the acting coach, the team was ably captained by Camp, Senior, and one of the main stars for the past two years. In addition to Camp, there were Tieman, Black, Gullikson, Wilke, Dinscy and Monnett. The first three, with Camp, formed the regular quarter.

With Monnett, Tieman and Gullikson back, much is expected of this year's team. It is hoped that with this trio, and the other promising men who are expected to come out, Hammond may continue to rank high among the teams of the Calumet region and the state of Indiana as well.

Mr. Garrett will be in charge of the team. He will schedule meets with Horace Mann, Froebel, Emerson, Roosevelt and Washington of East Chicago, and possibly a match with Chicago Heights.

Track

It has been a long time since Hammond High has had a track team to bring high honors and recognition to this school. Last year the turn-out was so poor that Mr. Moorehead, the director of athletics and gym instructor, ordered each Senior member of the squad to pick and train ten Freshmen for future use. Since the time was spent for the training of the Freshmen, no dual meets were had.

This year there has been an entire change. Coach Church, who is in charge of the squad, is quite optimistic, and has said: "This year's track season is very encouraging, considering the number that have been out for track in former years. The Freshman class looks good for future years." Under his leadership it is hoped that track will regain its lost prestige.

Besides the directing power of the coach, there is the leading power of "Jim" Turner, the captain of the squad. Jim was an integral part of the football team and is a speedy 100-yard dasher, and a good high jumper. He is a consistent point gainer and usually places in every meet.

This year we will participate in several dual meets. Meets with Roosevelt and Washington of East Chicago will be booked. Besides, there will be a quadrangular meet with Horace Mann, Roosevelt and Washington of East Chicago, and a triangular meet with Thoraton Fractional and Blue Island.

Swimming Team

The Purple and White splashers were this year one of Hammond's most successful athletic organizations. Not only did Halsey's men win the majority of their meets, but they were the first team in the history of Hammond High School swimming to finish "ahead of the game" financially.

Probably the outstanding performers of this year's team were captain Florence, Jacobs and Miller, who won, in the order named, the most points during the season. The former swam the 220, the 40, and held down a berth in the relay team; Jacobs did the 100 yards, was a consistent point-earner in back-stroke, and was lead-off man on the relay. Fritz Miller, another consistent winner, was probably one of the best breast-stroke men in Indiana. Hammond was also strong in the diving department this year. Benbow, Van Horn and Gunnell were the regulars, any two of whom could usually be counted on to place.

At the close of the season the following men were awarded letters: Florence, Miller, Jacobs, Saker, Bicanic, Craidon, Van Horn, Benbow and Gunnell. Much credit should also be given Phares, Speichert, Cohen and Smith for their hard work and loyalty to the team. Each of the four saw action at one time or another during the season.

Too much appreciation cannot be given Coach Halsey, to whom the success of the 1930 squad is due. Through his organization and coaching, the team evolved from a more or less financial and athletic flop to the successful team you see pictured below.

Gordon, the senior manager, assisted by Walter Papuga and Wilber Dane, handled the equipment with credit. "Pee Wee" was awarded a sweater for his efforts.

Girls' Varsity Swimming Team

Since this year was only the second year for our Girls' Varsity Team, it was natural that the girls were somewhat inexperienced. They did very well, however, and this year has found many new and enthusiastic girls. Dorothy Emerson, Alice Hieber, Jule Dobbins, Frances Lowell, Dorothy Scott and Jane Kleihege were all out for their first year of Varsity Swimming.

The girls worked very conscientiously. One could see them in the pool every night swimming their twenty-two lengths, and practicing stars and turns under the able direction of their coaches, Miss Jay and Miss Dietrich.

We had the same two excellent divers with us, Ruth Herbst and Olive Shaw. They placed in every meet last year, and were as strong as ever this year. Dorothy Pickett, Dorothy Scott and Madge Bailey also did extremely good work.

Alice Hieber, Dorothy Emerson and Madge Bailey were our breast-stroke swimmers this year. They were excellent workers and made quite a few points.

Swimmers this year. They were excellent workers and made quite a few points.

Swimmer. "Connie" was with us last year, and we are looking forward to having her again next year. "Dot" Pickett and Betty Stoikowitz followed closely behind "Connie." They both did wonderful work, and Betty will be back to support the team next year.

Olive Shaw, Frances Lowell, Jane Kleihege and Jule Dobbins have done well in the back stroke. Jule Dobbins was out for her first year, and she placed first in some of our meets. We hope she will be with us for several years to come.

Miss Jay and Miss Dietrich certainly deserve a great deal of credit for the time they have spent in training and guiding our mermaids, and we wish them much luck in the future.

Red Cross Girls Life Saving

The American Red Cross carries on a nation-wide swimming program. The pupils of any school enrolled in the Red Cross may participate in this program as part of their fitness for service activities. The purposes of such a program are to promote health through enjoyment of a wholesome form of recreation, and to reduce loss of life by drowning. Buttons and emblems are awarded to the individuals who meet the required tests.

Swimmers are urged to learn the methods by which those in peril of drowning may be rescued with least possible risk to the rescuer. By study and practice, swimmers of ordinary ability should be prepared, in case of necessity, to bring a drowning person to safety.

Performing rescues by means of a boat or buoy is always to be recommended. The swimming rescue is properly regarded as a last resort, to be used only when neither boat nor buoy is available.

The method of inducing artificial respiration merits serious study and practice, as it is a most effective means of saving life if applied in time.

Members of the Life Saving Corps are urged in every possible way to reduce the loss of life by drowning. Members of this organization can further the purpose of the organization by encouraging and assisting in teaching beginners to swim; advocating and practicing sane regulations for swimming; installing or recommending proper safeguards; marking danger spots with warning signals, and forming volunter Life Saving Corps for beach patrol and life guard duty.

Many girls turned out for life saving practice this year. They came down to the pool twice a week and sometimes more often to practice on their approaches, carries, breaks and other necessary methods. Miss Jay, who has passed her camp director association tests and is a Red Cross examiner, gave the tests to the girls this year.

Girls' Sports

There were a great many sports this year in which the girls could participate. May enthusiastic girls came out to join one or more of the following activities: hockey, baseball, volley-ball, soccer, tennis, baskeball, swimming, skating and hiking.

Soccer was the popular sport of last fall. The girls could be seen out in the athletic field, kicking the ball around and running all over the ground between posts trying to make a goal. They certainly enjoyed it. The soccer tourney was won by the Juniors through their steady practice and skillful playing.

There was an interesting inter-advisory volley-ball tournament at which room 208 capared first place. It was surprising what good teams the advisories lead since some of the girls had not been playing for some time and naturally were out of practice.

The basketball tournament was met with much enthusiasm. The girls as well as a great many spectators became quite excited over it. The Juniors and Seniors had to fight it out for the final victory, but the Juniors were the successful ones with the score of 7-9.

Baseball was offered as a spring sport. In addition to these sports there were three others, no less important, but quite a bit newer. Archery and croquet were just starred last fall and were met with much approval. There was a croquet tourney for individual prizes as well as for couples. The girls were furnished with a lovely archery set and could be seen twice a week practicing under the direction of Betty Harris. Tennis became very popular and quite a few tournaments were held.

Outside of the competitive sports there were swimming, skating and hiking. The sports were often the center of a party and the person who participated was given major credit. These three sports were given the most credit in the G. A. C. because of the fact that they are all-around sports and they carry over into later life.

This year the girls had something new to look forward to and to work for. This was their letter "H," which was awarded on the point basis.

Samuel Clemens as a child received scant schooling, but through recording his experiences, he has left us many clever volumes. His humor is characteristically American. Some condemn it of irreverence and flippancy, but his comic force offsets all defects. In "Tom Sauyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," he appears as the master of humor, and a truly creative genius.

FEATURES

Little did the two adventurous lads, Huckleberry Fim and Tom Sawyer, realize, as they cut the capers of their youth, that these same experiences would be recorded and arouse the envy of every boy in the world. Mark Twain has ingeniously conceived two books, one about each boy. Both volumes are copied from actual experiences of Mr. Twain's youthful companions.

VICTOR MONNETT LELAND DUNKERSON

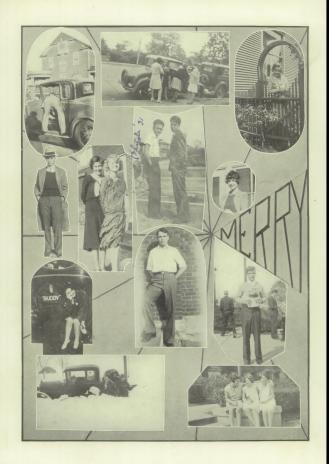

Can you imagine that people like these could ever be chosen as the most popular and good looking members of our school?

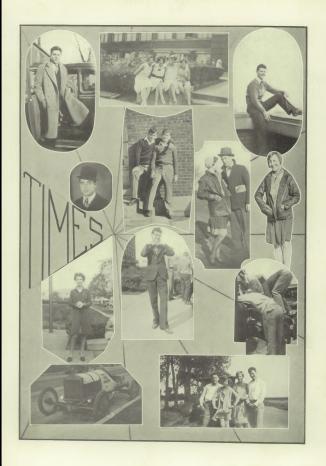

An American, a "captain of industry," a benefactor, was born in 1837 in Scotland. He acquired a great fortune. Believing it a sin to die rich, he proceeded to dispose of it in a philanthropic manner. Libraries and institutions of all kinds are indebted to Andrew Carnegie for their present position.

Many of the institutions such as libraries oue their position to Andrew Carnegie. Through his experiences he saw that it would not be long before the masses in democratic America would desire to enlighten themselves on many subjects, hence with his great fortune he established the public libraries in the United States.

"THE DUNES" EUNICE MCGULLOUGH, ADVISOR HAMMOND HIGH SCHOOL HAMMOND, INDIANA

STEVE BEREOLOS

TO THE MEMBERS OF MY STAFF:

Little did my choice selection of members realize how much time and effort was to be spent in producing a year book but they rallied to the situation, and after nine months of hard labor, we have produced our DUNES.

I want to thank each one individually for the effort he placed upon the work allotted to him. It was not unusual for me to ask them to remain night after night and work, and even though they had made other plans, they willingly made the sacrifice to make this book a success.

I want to thank personally Miss Franklin, Muriel Gerrity, Rilla Crow, Madeline, Folk, James Campbell and Dick Kennedy for the art and cartoons; Alison Tennant, Betty Hanis, Gordon Randall and John Gunnell for the write-ups; Estell Lackoff and Edith Last for their typing, and Dorothy Thiel for the splendid way in which she gathered and mounted the snapshots.

We can't publish a year book without a business staff, and as a business manager Steve Bercolos was very good. I want to thank him and his able helpers, Orville Reissig, Paul Marlowe, James Shanklin, Melvin Cohen and Carl Boyer, for their splendid work and co-operation.

But most of all I want to express my gratitude to Miss Eunice McCullough, Faculty Advisor, for her untiring efforts and help in all the perplexing matters which came before us. Her good humor smoothed over many a rough place, which might otherwise have spelled disaster.

This book, the fruit of our labors, will, we hope, find favor in your judgment.

THE EDITOR.
